Gadget Review: Sony's new virtual paper

While I love my iPad, I still have issues reading on it. I read manuals and other materials but I prefer books but could be convinced that digital is more than supplementary. This new option from Sony is a large screen wifi enabled reader but it also includes a digital pen for annotations. Cost around $1000 so not a price point that interests me.

Sony is rolling out its new technology that looks quite interesting here.

Source: https://www.idonthaveacoolname.com/2014/03/31/sonys-new-virtual-paper/