

First long weekend of the summer

Here is a smattering of images from the weekend. I really enjoyed myself although I only kayaked once due to rather inclement weather; however, I did take a few long day trips into the nooks and crannies around the Bay. I found great little areas, off the beaten path. The wildlife was great and there were many opportunities to take great images!

All but the macro images taken with an Olympus 60mm were taken with the Panasonic 100-300mm. The long telephoto is an effort to focus at the long end, but I am getting more proficient.
