

à la Banksy

I went over to my friend Matt's new place last night to watch the hockey game and eat Thai food. What a great place, and relatively close too. Summer BBQ will be sweet! It was a nice day, finally above 0 with some sunshine. I had forgotten what that bright thing was up in the sky!

I did take out my camera intent on some street shots with my legacy Canon 50mm 1.8. Below is a quick shot that is an homage to Banksy.
