

Art installation that looks like trash cleaned up by staff

From the article: The piece by Goldschmied & Chiari presents the scene at the end of a party, a metaphor for the 1980s, Italy's 'age of plenty': a period of consumerism, financial speculation, the advent of commercial TV and much partying.

And then one night the cleaning staff cleaned it up!

Source: <https://www.idonthaveacoolname.com/art-installation-that-looks-like-trash-cleaned-up-by-staff/>