

Back in Roma!

I got off the train and headed outside to the cacophony that is Rome. Being in Venice also meant no cars but within 5 minutes in Rome, I had my fill.

I went down to Campo di Fiori to buy a suitcase that I will use to transport stuff back home, including the vino Nobile that I bought in Montipulciano. After I settle in I am heading out for a drink with a friend that I met a few weeks back. My hosts at the hotel have upgraded my suite and one of my balconies overlooks the square below. I am now sitting here listening to a string quartet playing classical music as I sip a glass of wine and eat some pecorino cheese, pear, and honey.

Here are a few pics from the Doge's Palace and from up high in the campanile. I have also included a few from inside the Bridge of Sighs.

IMG_2737.JPG

IMG_2745.JPG

IMG_2756.JPG

IMG_2818.JPG

IMG_2821.JPG

IMG_2792.JPG

IMG_2855.JPG

IMG_2861.JPG

IMG_2852.JPG

Source: <https://www.idonthaveacoolname.com/back-in-roma/>