

Dali, Tintoretto, Picasso

Yes. My days have been filled with art. I went to the Accademia and then the Guggenheim today. Wow! I essentially did a short course on western art from the 15th century to today. The Accademia was empty when I arrived but an hour wait when I left, ditto for the Peggy Guggenheim. Like I said, maybe it's all those churches I'm praying in! So here are a bunch of paintings, a few close ups of Tintoretto's, some Miro, Picasso, and a smattering of Pollacks (see what I did there :))

Oh... And after all of that, I ended up at a contemporary art exhibit on the far side of Dorsoduro that was quite good!

And this post is for my buddy DM who would have enjoyed this day as much as I did!

//Edit - I am over 10,000 photos thus far. Rome tomorrow!!
