

I finally broke down....

... and put my air conditioner on. I have been attempting to tough it out but I had to throw in the towel when I had to do dishes this afternoon. And I cooked as well. Roast chicken and sweet potato purée. Very nice! The weather is stormy but the rain has yet to break the back of this humidity. I have the AC cranked up high. Sorry, environment. I will turn it off when the sun goes down. ☐☐

And a group of us are seeing World War Z this week! So I stole a minute to run across the street today at work and bought the book. I'll start it as soon as I finish this post! I have heard that the movie, while good, is a superficial storyline that neglects the serious questions posed and abandons the deeper elements made by the author in the book. See the Venn diagram here.
