

Migrants, not explorers

A very interesting article here that argues for a mass, deliberate settlement of Australia rather than “accidental stranding.” The thesis of piece-meal settlement is difficult to support, especially if you think of the necessary genetic diversity needed to create a viable settlement. This article suggests 3000 people.

Source: <https://www.idonthaveacoolname.com/migrants-not-explorers/>