

Really awesome shipping container home!

I love the concept of a shipping container home. It works well with my fetish for straight lines and open spaces. Tristan sent me this link of a great video showing off a several container version in California. I love the small footprint, open vista, and the ease of modular construction. As many of you know, I am quite interested in creating a modular home at the cottage. More about that later but, for now, here is the link.

Source: <https://www.idonthaveacoolname.com/really-awesome-shipping-container-home/>