Virtual Tokyo

So the Victoria Day (Victoria and Aboriginal Day if the petition is successful) weekend is almost over. I have had a very quiet and relaxing few days, catching up with some old friends. I have also backed up my entire photo collection. Took me 3 hours! I ate a lot of bacon and eggs, great steak and fennel, roasted chicken and now I have brownies baking in the oven. It will be nice to work some of this off tomorrow at the gym. Yoga was awesome on Sunday, while I felt a little rusty since I haven't gone in three weeks, it sure was nice to sweat!

Here is a great video of a miniaturized Tokyo. No Godzilla but cool techno funky beat here.

Source: https://www.idonthaveacoolname.com/virtual-tokyo/