

Why I wouldn't invest in Facebook

I was once asked about Facebook and if I thought it was the new google. I didn't and still don't. Facebook doesn't really do anything. It aggregates your data in a graphic user interface that you can easily use. To me, it is essentially the same as the open source WordPress. The other reason why Facebook isn't a great investment is that while once cool, it isn't anymore. I give it another few years before it becomes mySpace 2. Funny stuff here.
